

Clear Street Corner

The corner of Second and Lamine, partially blocked off since the fire at the Downtowner Cafe on Dec. 12, is being cleared. Last week in municipal court the owner, C. J. Danielson, was given two weeks to begin clearing up the debris. Sunday morning the east wall collapsed. Monday, Floyd Paxton began the demolition job. Above, a Missouri Public Service Co., machine is being used to remove the remains of a street light damaged in the demolition. Demolition is expected to be completed in two or three days.

ST. JOHNS, Antigua (AP) — Britain made a show of military muscle today in its long dispute with rebellious Anguilla. A company of Red Devil paratroopers, about 150 strong, boarded three British frigates at this island, 70 miles from Anguilla.

The paratroopers flew in this morning from English rain and fog to a landing under a sunny sky in 90-degree temperature on Antigua, where the frigates Rothesay, Rhyl and Minerva were waiting.

The little flotilla made no immediate move to sail.

In London, British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart said the military buildup—reported also to include 40 Scotland Yard policemen—was only precautionary.

Without naming either Ronald Webster, Anguilla's chief executive, or Prime Minister Robert L. Bradshaw of the St. Kitts-Nevis-Anguilla federation from which the island declared its independence in 1967, Stewart indicated Britain wants changes made.

"It's no wish of ours for the Anguilla people to live under a regime they do not want," Stewart told the House of Commons.

Facing a barrage of questions, he described movements of paratroopers and police as "preparatory moves" to cope with any emergency. He did not specify what emergency he had in mind.

The islanders from the start bitterly resisted being incorporated into the associated federal state of St. Kitts-Nevis-Anguilla in 1967. They have always resented the role of being a sort of "piggyback colony" of St. Kitts and have vowed never to bow to the domination of Prime Minister Robert Bradshaw of St. Kitts.

Stewart stressed that the object of British government policy now is "to install Her Majesty's commissioner in Anguilla with the task of working out a long-term solution."

Opposition conservative lawyers, referring to widespread press reports that a British invasion of Anguilla is imminent, asked Stewart bluntly whether the government intends to use force against the Anguillans.

The foreign secretary advised them to await a full statement he intends making later in the week. But he insisted the military buildup was only precautionary.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson met for nearly two hours with his top generals and admirals along with civilian advisers.

The ministry did supply the information that the frigate Rothesay has now arrived at Antigua, which is about 70 miles from Anguilla.

The Rothesay joined two other

Major Allied Drive To Halt Red Push

SAIGON (AP) — More than 10,000 American troops launched a massive counter-offensive northwest of Saigon today to forestall any drive that the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese might try to make on the South Vietnamese capital.

The American drive, launched on the 24th day of the Viet Cong's spring offensive, was centered in an area of jungles and rubber trees 40 miles northwest of Saigon. U.S. intelligence officers believe as many as 7,500 troops of the North Vietnamese 7th Division are trying to push south along the Saigon River toward the capital.

The U.S. Command threw troops of the 1st and 25th Infantry Divisions, the 1st Air Cavalry Division and the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment into what field commanders called a "compression" attempt to pin down the strong enemy forces.

U.S. headquarters reported at least 28 enemy soldiers killed by air and artillery strikes in the only significant contact reported so far, during a preliminary phase of the operation Monday.

The American command said helicopter gunships scouting the area drew heavy fire from the ground, and the pilots estimated there were about 300 enemy troops in the area.

U.S. fighter-bombers and artillery pounded the enemy for several hours, and spokesmen said the bodies of 28 enemy soldiers were observed in the area. No U.S. casualties were reported.

But three other fights flared during the past 24 hours along the same approach corridor 26 to 40 miles north of Saigon. U.S. forces reported another 58 enemy soldiers killed and only a few Americans wounded.

Allied sources reported radar and other electronic devices had detected heavy enemy troop movements along the approach to Saigon from the northwest and the northeast.

The movements indicated the Viet Cong may be trying to find a way through the mass of U.S. and South Vietnamese bases protecting the capital.

U.S. military analysts said Saigon is still the ultimate goal of the enemy's spring offensive. Although one captured document indicated an attack on the city between Thursday and next Tuesday, one analyst said:

"We don't feel that during March an attack will materialize on Saigon. We feel the objective is Saigon ultimately."

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, said on a visit to Manila the enemy spring offensive has been contained. But he warned that the Viet Cong's heavy losses "may not be enough" to dissuade them from further attacks.

B52 bombers pounded suspected enemy bases northeast and northwest of the capital with nearly 2,000 tons of bombs, and artillery bombarded enemy troop positions picked up by radar.

U.S. headquarters reported 25 rocket and mortar attacks on allied bases and towns in the 24th day of the enemy offensive, but military casualties and damage were said to be light.

The attackers reached the American defense lines, firing rocket-propelled grenades, before being driven off. Several U.S. soldiers were reported wounded in the attack, but none were killed.

The U.S. Command said American troops, bombers, helicopter gunships and artillery killed 56 enemy soldiers without suffering any casualties in three encounters Monday 26 to 42 miles northwest of Saigon.

Nixon Asks Arms Talks On Limiting of ABM's

GENEVA (AP) — President Nixon informed the 17-nation disarmament conference today the United States hopes to start talks with the Soviet Union in the near future on limiting anti-ballistic missile systems.

His remarks came in a six-point message to the first session of the talks after a seven-month recess.

Earlier the Soviet Union proposed to the session a treaty to ban all military installations, nuclear and nonnuclear, on the sea bed, the ocean floor and its subsoil.

President Nixon reiterated that the "United States" immediate objective is to leave behind the period of confrontation and to enter an era of negotiations.

In a letter read to the session by U.S. chief delegate Gerard C. Smith Nixon listed these points:

The United States is interested in an international agreement barring nuclear and other weapons of mass destruction from the sea bed. Such an agreement would "prevent an arms race before it has a chance to start."

—New efforts must be made toward "greater understanding of the verification issue"—so far blocking agreement on a comprehensive test ban treaty.

—The United States will continue to press for an agreement to cut off production of fissionable material for nuclear weapons and transfer the material to peaceful purposes.

—The United States will join with others in exploring "any proposals or ideas" that could

Mayor's Veto Overridden By Vote of City Council

By ED VAUGHAN
Democrat-Capitol Staff Writer

The City Council approved without a roll call vote the request of E. W. and Sylvia Thompson to rezone property just west of the Thompson Hills Shopping Center for commercial use at its regular meeting Monday night, and in effect overrode Mayor Ralph Walker's previous veto of the request.

The following letter, signed by Mayor Walker, explained the issue involved and his reason for vetoing the bill:

"At the meeting of the Sedalia City Council on March 3, 1969 bill number 69-17 was read three times and passed by a 5-2 vote.

"The purpose of the bill is to rezone from R-1 to C-3 approximately 40 acres of land owned by E. W. Thompson and Sylvia Thompson west of the present Thompson Hills Shopping Center.

"The Planning and Zoning Commission voted to disapprove the rezoning request because it is not in the best interest of Sedalia to change the zoning of such a large area without a plat or a plan for development being presented by the owner.

"It is definitely not the intention of the Planning and Zoning Commission or the Mayor to be either arbitrary or stand in the way of the building and growth of Sedalia. On the contrary we have worked hard to provide a climate for business and industrial expansion and it is just such a climate that requires zoning practices be initiated and followed that will provide for orderly growth.

"I am sure all or most of the land in question will someday be rezoned to accommodate business development because it would lend itself well in complementing other expansion

Second For Walker

This is the second time during his term of office that a council has over-riden a veto by Mayor Walker.

About two years ago the council approved an ordinance calling for the city to build a street, or extension of Thompson Blvd., from Broadway to Main. Mayor Walker vetoed the ordinance, but was overriden 8-0 at the next council meeting. Coincidentally, this issue also involved property owned by E. W. Thompson.

already in the area. However this request for rezoning was given the Commission without an accompanying plan for development and because the six members of the Commission present at the time the request was heard voted unanimously to disapprove the rezoning and because I believe the zoning change to be absolutely contrary to good zoning principles I hereby veto bill 69-17 and return it to the Council without my signature."

Before the council voted on a motion introduced by councilman Wells to override Mayor Walker's veto, Adam Fischer, representing E. W. Thompson, urged the council to approve the request as Thompson was "negotiating for extension of the present shopping center," and that his request was based on this.

Following the approval of the request by the council, Virgil Herriek and Bob Cain, members of the City Zoning and Planning Committee, asked the mayor and council to accept their resignations from the advisory committee. Both expressed an apparent loss of confidence in them by the council as their reasons for resigning. After some heated

Governor Won't Predict Outcome of Budget Bid

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes said today he would make no predictions on the outcome of his revenue bills that the House has decided to consider later in the day.

He told his news conference he thought the House Appropriations Committee did what it had to when it cut his $1.3 billion budget an estimated $95 million. Hearnes said he didn't want to go into detail as to how he felt on any particular reduction but the general need for reduction was understandable.

The governor said he thought the budget bills would have a better chance if House minority Republicans would be more realistic about the fiscal needs of the state rather than being critical.

He referred to the criticism of the minority leader, Rep. R. J. (Bus) King, R-Clayton, who said the GOP would not vote for raise bills without knowing how the added money would be spent.

Hearnes pointed out that King was a member of the House Appropriations Committee and should be in as good a position as anyone to know the use any added revenue would be put to.

The appropriations committee made its cuts known Monday morning and in the early afternoon the majority Democrats decided in caucus to test the revenue bills today. It amounted to a "take it or else" proposal—either pass needed revenue increases or face up to the $95 million cut made by the Appropriations Committee.

Rep. E. J. (Lucky) Cantrell, D-Overland, committee chairman, said that would bring expenditures within anticipated revenues and leave a $10 million balance on June 30, 1970.

The committee worked through the weekend and ended up cutting the Department of Community Affairs by 40 per cent, the Revenue Department 14 per cent, the Department of Education 12 per cent and the University of Missouri 11 per cent.

Meeting in caucus, the Democrats decided to take up the tax measures as a special order of business today. They would produce about $140 million per year.

Speaker Pro Tem Patrick J. Hickey, D - St. Ann, said the Democrats would show minority Republicans that if they voted against the tax increase bills they would have to face the people for the failure.

The committee reductions were immediately criticized by two Republican members, minority leader R. J. (Bus) King, of Clayton and former minority leader Ronald M. Belt of Macon.

They said the "Democratic leadership, including the governor, has decided to deliberately use scare tactics to drum up support for a blank check increase in taxes.

Expect a Rate Hike By Federal Reserve

WASHINGTON (AP) — High government sources predicted privately today that Monday's move to higher interest rates by major banks may be followed shortly by an increase in the Federal Reserve discount rate.

This would mean a still further tightening of the credit screws. Many officials consider it both inevitable and—under the circumstances—desirable as an anti-inflationary measure.

Federal Reserve Board officials declined to comment on the possibility that the discount rate—the interest rate at which the 12 Federal Reserve banks make loans to commercial banks—might be boosted above the current 5½ per cent rate.

But action of major banks in raising to 7½ per cent the "prime rate"—the interest rate charged to their biggest and most creditworthy borrowers—has created a wide gap between the discount rate and the prime rate.

Not since 1968 has a similar

2-point spread developed between the two rates. The Reserve Board is considered most likely to narrow the gap, to prevent the possibility that banks will begin to make heavy borrowings from the Reserve banks to relend commercially, thereby profiting by the wide margin.

"On the basis of past experience it would not be surprising if the Fed considered the present spread too wide," one government economist said.

There was general agreement also that the hike in the cost of credit as it spreads through the economy, may be detrimental to the housing industry, small business borrowers, and municipalities which must go into the money markets for funds to finance new schools and public facilities.

On the other hand, officials agreed that the money-tightening move may discourage some corporations from borrowing at this time to finance new plant and equipment outlays.

Gets 4 Years In Rape Case

Darrell Dewayne Jordan, Chicago, Ill., charged with raping an 11-year-old girl in Pettis County Feb. 29, withdrew his plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty in Circuit Court Tuesday morning.

On recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney Henry Keeler, Judge Frank Hayes sentenced Jordan to four years in custody of the State Department of Corrections. He was taken to Jefferson City Tuesday afternoon by the Pettis County Sheriff's Department.

Jordan, along with Danny Eugene Shomer, Kansas City, had been charged with statutory rape in connection with the incident. Shomer pleaded guilty Friday and received a similar sentence.

Only One Indisputable Fact About Marijuana

BY ALTON BLAKESLEE
(AP) Science Writer

One indisputable fact every teen-ager should know about marijuana is that it's against the law.

Under federal statutes, mere possession of the drug for personal use is a felony. Conviction can mean two to ten years in prison, loss of civil rights and a criminal record that will dog you for the rest of your life.

Some state laws are even more severe.

Recently, federal law was changed imposing stiff penalties for simply having LSD on your person, or for possessing pep pills, barbiturates or tranquilizers unless they had personally been prescribed for you. Laws governing illegal manufacture, sale and distribution of various mind-influencing drugs also were made more severe.

"I've had to pick up the pieces of boys and girls in trouble from using drugs," says a psychiatrist at a well known university, "and it isn't pleasant."

How many youths are getting into health trouble through mind-drug use isn't known. Abuse of alcohol, which affects the brain, has resulted in six million alcoholics.

Youth Easily Harmed

Young people are more easily harmed than their elders by hallucinogenic and other drugs, partly because they have "a yet-uncrystallized system of personality," a psychiatrist says.

"The kids who shouldn't use drugs are the ones most likely to do so and to become hurt," says Dr. Martin D. Kleber, Yale psychiatrist.

"It's possible you can use some drug and be one of the seven or eight out of 10 who won't get hurt. But do you know whether you won't be the odd man out? With LSD, you don't know but what one trip might cause damage," he adds.

While most people who smoke pot occasionally do so with no apparent harm, physicians have reported some instances of bad reactions, such as "having the horrors" for several hours afterward.

Reactions also vary because the reeferers available to most youngsters vary in potency — and some are simply nothing but some weed, others may be laced with a stronger drug.

Pot is insidious because it creates a false sense of well-being due to impairment of critical judgment, says Dr. Abraham Wikler, University of Kentucky psychiatrist. Marijuana and LSD make it possible to avoid problems, to evade reality, he says, but "real life requires critical judgment."

"We don't know the answers to questions about the long-term use of marijuana," says Dr. John C. Ball, sociologist formerly with the U.S. Public Health Service's Addiction Research Center in Lexington, Ky., and now at Temple University. "We don't have good information on college students who use it daily for four years or so."

In some countries abroad, like North Africa where more powerful hashish is available, there are "skid rows" of habitues using the drug regularly. They are vagabonds, withdrawn from society, some of them mentally disturbed. Whether the drug actually caused this is argued by medical people.

LSD a Bigger Risk

The health casualty rate from LSD is far higher and more apparent than from marijuana. Bad trips or freak-outs have sent a small parade of youths to hospitals with panic reactions, or with psychotic episodes that last days, weeks or months.

At New York City's Bellevue Hospital, more than 130 patients were treated for LSD-induced psychoses in an 18-month period, says Dr. Donald B. Louria, president of the New York State Council on Drug Addiction. Even after treatment, one-sixth of them were not sent home, but on to other institutions for more prolonged treatment.

Similar figures are reported by medical groups in other areas of the country.

Curiously, some LSD users have "flashbacks" — they relive a former LSD trip, good or bad, weeks or many months later. When this happens, some wonder if they are losing their minds. This may imply that LSD can set off some chronic process in the human brain.

LSD has driven a few persons to intentional suicide. Fantasies inspired with LSD have led others to death by jumping out windows or walking on highways in the belief they could fly, or had become invisible.

"The trouble with LSD is that once they've taken it, people are not objective anymore — they don't see themselves accurately anymore," says one drug authority.

"It is inadvisable for an individual who takes even one dose of LSD to make a major decision about himself for at least three months," says the director of one university's health services.

Hazards in Other Drugs

The claim that LSD sessions lead to creativity in art, music or writing is not supported by most objective observers. Many say the work produced during a session is shoddy, or that after a trip the person doesn't produce anything from the visions and insights prompted by the drug.

Enthusiasm for LSD has cooled since scientific reports began appearing that the drug may damage a person's chromosomes — the carriers of hereditary traits.

This could mean that people who use or have used LSD might produce babies with congenital defects, although there is no proof yet that LSD actually does have such effects.

Other mind drugs are not always as safe as devotees may picture them.

Morning glory seeds have caused psychotic reactions, delirium, and anxiety in some young persons. Peyote has been blamed for or associated with anxiety and other reactions.

Barbiturates and sedatives cause numerous deaths, especially when mixed with other drugs or with alcohol, or because the person forgets how much of the drug he has already taken.

And some people become psychologically dependent upon pep pills to start out each day, in college, or in their careers. Large doses used to stay awake can induce dangerous delusions, as in one truck driver who thought someone was chasing him with a gun. He wrecked his truck.

More than 550 students in Smith-Cotton High School enroll each year in courses of study in the industrial arts. Emerson Matthews, instructor and Industrial Arts Department head, told members of Rotary Club Monday noon. The meeting was held in the Bothwell Hotel.

Matthews presented colored slides he had taken over the past 10 years to show the use of the machines for wood-working, metal working and welding and the items produced through the use of them.

Study courses included work in wood, metal, leather and plastic, and basic electricity and arc and acetylene welding. Drafting is another popular subject in this department, according to Matthews.

Included in slides showing some of the finished pieces made by students were lamps, end tables, sewing cabinets, grandfather clocks, bed headboards, hope chests, gun racks, spinning wheels, and other finely made pieces of furniture. Because of this industrial arts school training many students have become excellent carpenters, metal workers, welders, draftsmen and industrial arts teachers and still others have found an interesting avocation or hobby, Matthews said.

Safety in the use of power tools is stressed, Matthews said, it is not only a safeguard for the student but it teaches him the correct and safe use of tools which will carry over into his adult life.

The speaker was introduced by Charles "Bud" Hurr, program chairman.

Peter J. Reilly, head of industrial relations for Boeing in area work, was presented by Cy Cline as a new member of the club.

Dr. Stanley Fisher, club president, called attention to the showing on Thursday evening at 8:00 o'clock of the film, "Austria" by its producer.

Robin Williams, on the Rotary-sponsored series of Travelogues. The showing will be in the Smith-Cotton High School Auditorium.

STEELE, N.D. (AP) — A Northern Pacific train killed 15 of 16 deer in a herd near this central North Dakota village. Game Warden Bennie Belland said the deer were bedded down Sunday on the tracks near a grove of trees. The deer apparently fled down the tracks ahead of the train, Melland said, unable or unwilling to jump out of the train's path because of the high snowbanks.

Fine Art of Doubletalk Requires Polishing Up

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Spring is a good time to brush up on your double talk.
Our conversation tends to get a bit rusty during the long winter months, and if we're not careful we start saying things we really mean.

That, of course, can be socially disastrous. In our civilization only the very young and the very old are permitted to tell the truth at all times. The popularity of the rest of us depends largely on our skill at double talk, which is the art of saying one thing while thinking just the opposite.

Here are a few examples of double talk in ordinary life situations, followed by their hidden meanings.

"This is the best car on the lot. With proper care it could last you 10 years easy."—It will if you put it in the garage, jack it up, and leave it there.

"Is that really a denture, Fred? They look so real no one would ever suspect they were false."—I haven't seen teeth like that since the last time I went to a racetrack.

"I saved this steak especially for you, Mrs. Willingham. It does look a bit aged—but of course that simply makes it more tender."—It got lost in the display case two weeks ago.

"I could have got orchestra seats but I thought we'd have a better view from the balcony."—Why should I waste money buying orchestra seats for a dame like you?

"Once I pick up a good book, I can't put it down until I finish it."—But if you don't bother to pick it up, you don't have to read it at all.

"Him? That's a laugh. Why, I wouldn't marry him if he were the last man on earth."—Besides, he didn't ask me to.

"Of course, I'm only offering you a suggestion, Jim. Feel perfectly free to do it anyway you want to."—But if you don't do it my way, you'd better start looking for a new job.

"It's such a nice night out, why don't we walk?"—He'll sulk the rest of the evening if I make him spring for a cab.

"Your speech really made our annual dinner a success, senator. I don't know when I've enjoyed a talk more."—I did get a nice long nap at that.

"It has always been the policy of our publication to encourage struggling young authors." If you give them a pat on the back, you don't have to pay them so much.

"It just sounds like a slight knock in the engine. My mechanic will have it purring like a kitten by tomorrow."—After he gets through working it over, you'll get a bill for $150.

"No one could ever call your legs skinny. Slender, yes—but skinny, never."—When I first saw them, I didn't even recognize them as legs. I thought you were walking on stilts.

"Well, after all, everybody has his faults."—But tell me, buddy, how did you manage to corner the market?

"Our son has decided to take a year off from college while he decides what he really wants to do with his life."—He flunked out.

"Naturally, we aren't offering this opportunity to just anybody."—Just anybody who will fall for it.

Part Interest Comes High

LEE'S SUMMIT, Mo. (AP) — The American Herdsman Institute sold a one-quarter interest in one of its prize Polled Hereford bulls Monday for $60,000.

About 500 attended what the institute advertised as the first of its annual production sales. Eighteen bulls and 29 heifers changed hands for $214,955.

The big deal was on Predominant 25U, with Paul Dear Farms of Springfield, Ohio, paying $60,000 for a one-fourth interest.

Brookhill Farms at Clarksburg, Mo., owned by Edward V. Long, former U.S. senator, paid the institute $18,500 for a one - fourth interest in Justa-R Ian 186X, a son of Predominant.

Wayne Rollins of Atlanta,

Ga., paid $27,000 for a one-fourth interest in Canam Investor. The seller was Glenkirk Farms at Maysville, Mo.

Needs White Men, Says Minister of Labor

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) — "Africanization," the rapid replacement by blacks in most jobs held by whites, was proclaimed as one of the sweeter fruits of independence.

A few years later, new nations are willing to admit that once-mistrusted white experts from overseas may be needed for a long time yet.

Labor Minister Lewis Changufu told Parliament that the whole program to replace foreigners with Zambians has to be drastically slowed. "So far the program has done Zambia more harm than good," he said.

Copper mines are the key-stone of Zambia's economy and they require highly skilled technicians. Zambians who took over jobs formerly held by expatriates had shirked responsibility, Changufu said. "They have let me down."

He said Zambians who replaced whites were expected to perform at the same level.

His report startled lawmakers who opened the debate by charging that Zambianization had not gone fast enough since the country became independent in October 1964.

Mathew Nkoloma told Parliament some Zambians, demoted after serving as mine shift bosses for a year, should have had more time to prove themselves. Nkoloma said the time was ripe to move Zambians into all top positions in the mines.

"I am not going to promote anyone just for the sake of Zambianization," Changufu insisted.

Changufu's remarks were surprising since a recent government report told of steady and serene progress in Zambianizing the mines. White mine officials publicly endorsed the paper, but some expressed less optimistic views in private.

About 65,000 whites remain in Zambia, formerly the British territory of Northern Rhodesia. Their position has been tense because of the country's bitter colonial legacy and Zambia's current confrontation across the Zambezi River with white-ruled, breakaway Rhodesia.

Officially, white expatriates are welcome as long as they stay out of politics and obey the law. "All we ask of them is to put their hearts in the right place and respect man, regardless of color," says President Kenneth Kaunda.

Ray Left Evidence At Scene

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — In his flight from the scene of the Martin Luther King assassination James Earl Ray abandoned a pocket radio in a plastic case bearing his number as an inmate of the Missouri State penitentiary.

The meaning of the number eluded the authorities until weeks after Ray's capture last June 8 in London, it was disclosed Monday.

James Beasley of the Shelby County attorney general's staff said Ray dropped his rifle, a pair of binoculars and the case with the radio in it in a doorway near the rooming house from which he shot the Negro civil rights leader.

On the case was etched the number 00416 in numerals half an inch high. That was Ray's number at the Missouri prison, where he was serving 20 years for robbery when he escaped April 23, 1967.

The number was kept secret, but the FBI traced it to the penitentiary about a month after Ray was caught.

Warden Harold Swenson said Ray had bought the radio in the penitentiary canteen on April 21, 1967—two days before he got away. It cost $9.75. In accordance with prison practice, Ray etched his number on the case with an electric stylus to establish ownership.

Elsewhere there were these developments in the Ray case:

Russell X. Thompson of Memphis, a lawyer who said he had investigated the assassination, met in New York with attorneys of the Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc., of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Thompson said he had presented some new information about the slaying and there had been a discussion of whether it could be "raised to the dignity of evidence."

Thus a significant group of nations with technical ability to build nuclear arsenals are still debating whether to sign the nonproliferation treaty. They include West Germany, Japan, Israel and India.

The Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans get you away from the bother of credit checks or making deposits when you have to enter the hospital. (Because most hospitals are member hospitals in Blue Cross.)

And, they get you away from the bother of filling out a lot of claims forms when you leave. (Because Blue Cross and Blue Shield pay basic benefits direct to participating hospitals and doctors.)

And they get you away from worrying about getting in financial trouble because of illness. (Because for every dollar put in, we put back about 92 cents in benefits.)

One out of every three Americans has these plans. Probably because they're the best plans there are for the money.

And there's no getting away from that.

The Sunday liquor sales bill, sponsored by Sen. Edward T. Linehan, D-St. Louis, would allow local municipalities to prohibit sales within their limits by a special election.

In a lighter vein, the committee heard Sen. John E. Downs, D-St. Joseph, say he thought it was time Missourians were again allowed to call a saloon "a saloon."

Downs said ever since the 1800's it has been illegal to call a saloon "a saloon" in Missouri.

"It is parading under false colors," he said, "to drink liquor in a cocktail lounge."

"And," he added, "my mother belonged to an Anti-Saloon League and how can you have an Anti-Saloon League if you don't have saloons?"

Accidents

Two persons were taken to Bothwell for examination or treatment following accidents in Sedalia Monday afternoon. Examination showed their injuries were minor and they were released.

The first accident involving an injury was at South Limit and Country Club Blvd. at 6:56 p.m. As a result of this accident, Carl D. Dewitt, Route 5, was taken to the hospital. He was examined and treated for a lacerated knee. He was riding a motorcycle.

Involved were a 1966 Chevrolet being driven South on Limit by Janet Lee Kupser, Somerset Apartments, and a 1968 Suzuki motorcycle ridden by Dewitt. The driver of the Chevrolet told police she was making a left turn, after stopping and signaling. Dewitt said he did not realize she was making the turn. The right rear of the car was damaged. The motorcycle damage was extensive.

A girl apparently walked into the side of a moving car in the 700 block on East Broadway at 7:15 p.m. Monday. She was taken to the hospital, where she was examined by Dr. A. L. Lowe and released. She had complained of a headache.

The girl, Dianna Lee Carver, 16, 645 East Ninth, told the investigating officers she heard a car honk, but stepped off the curb and hit the side of the car, a 1969 Ford being driven West on Broadway by Floyd E. White, California. There was no damage to the car. The girl was sitting in the White car when the officers arrived.

White stated, "She just walked out in front and hit the side of my car."

Five accidents, including the ones with injuries, occurred in Sedalia between 5:25 and 7:15 p.m. Monday.

A parked 1962 Mercury, owned by Michael J. McNay, 905 Leone, was reportedly struck by an unknown vehicle while the car was parked in the 900 block on Leone. The accident was reported at 5:25 p.m. The left front of the car was damaged.

A 1965 Ford being driven south on Grand by Milford F. Goshens, 701 West 32nd, and a 1962 Chevrolet driven east on Ninth by Robert Lee Staus were involved in an accident in the 900 block on South Grand at 6:25 p.m. The right rear quarter panel of the Goshens car and the left front of the Staus car were damaged.

A parked 1965 Chevrolet owned by Birdie L. Ditzfeld, Route 2, was struck by an unknown vehicle while the car was parked in the 700 block on South Babcock at 7:14 p.m. Monday.

The 500 block of South Lamine was the scene of a two-car accident at 2:09 p.m. Monday.

Involved were a parked 1964 Plymouth owned by Ollison's Used Cars, and a 1967 Chevrolet driven north on Lamine by Donald Lee Grant, 49, Route 2, Houstonia.

The right rear of the Plymouth and the right side of the Chevrolet were damaged in the accident.

Grand was issued a police summons for careless and imprudent driving.

Arguments On School Measure

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The House Education Committee labored past midnight Monday as it heard arguments but took no action on a school reorganization bill.

It was a watered down version of one abandoned earlier by its sponsor, Rep. James I. Spainhower, D-Marshall, committee chairman.

It would require reorganization of school districts to insure that by Jan. 1972 every district in Missouri provided instruction in kindergarten through high school, with 50 credit units offered in grades nine through 12.

Except in St. Louis city and county, plans for district reorganization would be drawn by existing county school boards of education. If approved by the State Board of Education, the plans would be submitted to the voters.

If the voters rejected a proposed plan three times or county boards failed to come up with an acceptable reorganization by 1972, the state board could appoint a three-member arbitration board to decide district boundaries.

In the St. Louis area, a 12-member board would be created, comprised of six members from the city and the present six members of the county board of education and would be given area - wide authority over schools in both city and county.

Although it was supported by several school superintendents, the League of Women Voters and some citizens groups, the bill was sharply criticized by others.

Rep. Walter L. Meyer, D-Bellefontaine Neighbors, asked for deletion of the St. Louis area from coverage by the bill. He said the schools in that area already offer kindergarten and enough courses to earn first class ratings.

He said St. Louis County didn't want any part of the schools in the city of St. Louis "when those people won't even support their own schools."

Edwin D. Bihl, president of the Missouri Association of School Boards, said it would be dangerous for Missouri to continue to ignore the need for school reorganization.

But Rep. Edsard M. Cannon, D-Troy, said a greater danger was posed by representatives of groups who appear before committees and mislead them with their testimony.

In Ranks

Airman Larry H. McDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. McDonald, Route 1, Clarksburg, has completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. He has been assigned to Chanute AFB, Ill., for training in metalworking.

Airman McDonald, a 1966 graduate of Tipton High School, attended Central Missouri State College.

Warrensburg, appeared in Magistrate Court Monday on charges of issuing a no funds check and was bound over for trial in Circuit Court, according to Sheriff Emmett Fairfax.

Fires In The City

Firemen were called to 913 South Vermont at 4:07 p.m. Monday, where a shed had been set afire by burning grass. Mrs. O. L. Johnson occupies the property. The fire was under control when the firemen arrived. Slight damage resulted.

discussion on the council floor, their resignations were tabled by the council at the request of Mayor Walker.

Herrick said Tuesday that there was a mutual "loss of faith" between the Planning and Zoning Commission and the City Council.

"There is no future to look forward to in this kind of situation," Herrick said in explaining his resignation request. "In fact, I see no need for a Planning and Zoning Commission at all."

Herrick said the commission had no quarrel with Thompson, but had recommended disapproval of the rezoning request strictly for the reasons outlined by Mayor Walker.

In the regular business session of the meeting, the council endorsed the Missouri Valley Human Resource Development Corp., Carrollton, as Sedalia's Community Action Corporation.

An ordinance proclaiming Tuesday, April 1, as the day for the general election to elect a city assessor and one councilman from each ward was passed by the council.

Councilman Robinson announced that the week of May 12 will be Spring Clean-up Week in Sedalia, and said that anything that can be picked up by two men will be hauled away by the city free of charge.

It was also announced that barring any rain in the next week, the Sanitation Department will resume garbage pickups in the alleys. The exact date for resumption of the alley pickups will be announced through the news media.

Following two bid calls, a bid of $512 by Tri-State Weight and Scale Co., was accepted by the council for the old city scales which have been out of use since the first of the year.

The council received authorization by the owner of a building at 508 North Washington for the city to tear down the building in connection with an effort by the city to rid itself of some of its worst eyesores and safety hazards.

A motion to draw up an ordinance installing three fire hydrants, one 300 feet west of Limit on the north side of 16th Street; at the intersection of 16th and State Fair Boulevard, and 300 feet west of Thompson Boulevard on West Broadway, was approved. Also approved was a motion for an ordinance installing two street lights on the east side of Clarendon Road between 16th Street and the junior college.

Requests or petitions to establish Barrett Avenue from Third to Broadway; from Broadway to 16th and from 16th to 20th as a through street; one side of a street near Rival Manufacturing Co. as a no parking zone, and to establish certain regulations for emergency vehicles, were turned over to the traffic advisory committee for their

Malnutrition For Dixie Doctor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The country doctor whose reports of starvation in two rural South Carolina counties helped touch off a Senate investigation of hunger in the nation has been hospitalized because of malnutrition.

Dr. Donald Gatch, a 38-year-old white physician from Bluffton, S.C., was listed in fair condition at Freedmen's Hospital Monday, his doctor said, suffering as well from exhaustion and possibly intestinal worms.

Gatch's physician said his condition apparently was caused by overwork and resulting poor eating habits. He was admitted Saturday.

"The poor man has been working night and day," said a close friend of Gatch. "Hundreds of Negroes over a three or five county area call him and he is the only white doctor in several counties who will treat them."

Gatch, a Nebraska native who moved to South Carolina 10 years ago, first touched off a storm of controversy in 1967 with his charges that children were dying of starvation and that families lived in huts worse than pigsties.

Although Beaufort County doctors scoffed at his statements, a team of doctors and scientists later reported that 73 per cent of 131 Negro pre-school children in the county were afflicted with parasites.

Gatch said he was ostracized by fellow doctors, received threatening phone calls and was boycotted by white patients.

An investigating committee headed by Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., probed the conditions described by Gatch last month and triggered new free food stamp programs for the poor in Beaufort and neighboring Jasper County.

Gatch said he was beaten in his office two weeks ago by five young white men and that the alleged attack aggravated his weakened condition. He said he never reported the attack.

Husband Loses Bid To Receive Alimony

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dr. William A. Balmat and his wife separated 30 years ago. Now 75, he saw her for the first time since then Monday when he asked Judge Marvin A. Freeman to order her to pay $1,000 in monthly alimony.

Balmat, a retired dentist, said he is ill and living on a monthly pension of $124. His wife Mary, he said, is a millionaire after inheriting mining property from her first husband.

The judge turned down Balmat and granted Mrs. Balmat, 70, a divorce on grounds of cruelty and desertion.

Most 'Doves' Stand Back From Criticism of Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most Senate doves are hanging back, apparently willing to give President Nixon more time to try to end the Vietnam war, as J. W. Fulbright and George S. McGovern revive the attacks that helped bring down Lyndon Johnson.

McGovern, South Dakota, who sought the Democratic presidential nomination as a peace candidate, said Monday that Nixon may be sowing seeds of "national tragedy and certainly of personal political disaster" by continuing Johnson policies.

Fulbright, Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, opened up last week, ending a nearly complete Senate silence on Vietnam since the Republican President took office.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield and Whip Edward M. Kennedy were quick to disassociate themselves from McGovern's stand.

Both are standing fast against what they regard as premature criticism of Nixon. They feel it could tag the Democrats with the charge they are playing politics with the war.

Mansfield told reporters that those who criticize the President's course—as the Democratic leader frequently did when Johnson was in the White House—should remember that Nixon inherited the Vietnam war.

The Montana Senator said that while Johnson's policies are still in effect, Nixon should be given leeway and flexibility to develop his own.

Kennedy said that Nixon had shown some restraint by not escalating the war in response to the Viet Cong attacks.

"He said in the campaign that he has a peace plan," Kennedy said. "He has stated in leadership meetings that the plan is in effect in the negotiations in Paris. . . . We should give an opportunity for the plan to be tested. I am not convinced that the president has been given the opportunity to do that."

Kennedy added that the leaders have not been told what Nixon's plan is. Actually, Nixon confined himself in the campaign to saying that a Republican president would end the war.

But if there are no identifiable signs of progress in the Paris talks, the Democrats can be expected in time to begin asking pointed questions about what the Nixon plan is and why it hasn't produced results.

Britain Rations Scotch to Envoys

LONDON (AP) — The British government rationed foreign diplomats stationed here Monday to just enough tax-free scotch whisky to give a few well-oiled parties a year.

The move was aimed at plugging a leak into what is believed to be a flourishing black market in whisky.

The protocol department of the Foreign Office began telephoning London's 114 embassies and missions with the news that chiefs will be limited to 240 bottles of tax-free scotch a year and lesser diplomats to 48. Gin, brandy, rye and other imported spirits still will be available to them in unlimited quantities through duty-free shops.

A bottle of scotch in London normally costs about $6. Free of tax it costs $1.20 at most.

When autumn comes, ptarmigan and some other species of grouse grow appendages on their toes which act as snowshoes.

Tips to Migrant Workers On How to Cook Dishes

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A cookbook for migrant workers—using government surplus food and featuring such specialties as pork balls and smoked neck—is being written by a woman who calls herself a "poor man's Julia Childs."

"I think they could get along well on the commodities if they were used right, but there's been an awful lot of waste," said Sophie Leavitt.

The wife of a Hanover, Pa., businessman who winters in Florida, Mrs. Leavitt said she wanted to do something constructive after her children married and left home.

The migrant cookbook fitted into her plans because Palm Beach County is home for thousands of migrant farm workers, and because she once authored a $5 gourmet's recipe guide, "Dining Out at Home."

The recipes, said Mrs. Leavitt, must be simple and fast or the migrants will shun them. They have little food to waste or time to cook after long hours in the field.

The project intrigued Palm Beach County's commissioners, who dined on a surplus foods luncheon of beef stew, split pea soup and prune rolls, then voted $5,000 for a program to teach migrants to cook.

Mrs. Leavitt, whose cookbook is nearing completion, teaches one such course and finds that special considerations must be made. A migrant cooking class at Delray Beach will use a kerosene stove, because that's still common equipment in migrant homes.

Line-up is Still Close In Senate on Sentinel

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon picked up 10 supporters in the Senate with his revised Sentinel missile defense system, but barely dented the hardcore opposition that remains within striking distance of a majority at 44 votes.

An Associated Press poll conducted since Nixon unveiled his $6 billion to $7-billion antiballistic missile (ABM) system Friday shows 44 against, 35 for and 21 uncommitted.

This compares with an earlier survey that showed 47 votes against the system suggested by former President Johnson, 25 for and 28 uncommitted. Nixon's program, costing up to a billion and a half dollars more than Johnson's, is intended to protect the nation's deterrent missile and bomber forces. Johnson's system was designed to protect major cities.

Although Nixon weaned three votes away from the opposition, only one actually crossed into the President's camp.

The uncommitted bloc likely will provide the battleground as the two sides head for a final vote on Sentinel funds, probably in two months.

Nixon has predicted that vote will be close and the Pentagon and the White House are preparing an intensive campaign in the Senate.

One Senate source said Nixon has reversed the momentum building in Congress against the missile system.

"But don't forget," he said, "that this can be easily reversed because there are impressive figures in the Senate like Kennedy, Gore, Fulbright and Mansfield who can be counted on to do a lot of arm waving against the ABM," he adds.

Republican Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts, a former opponent now uncommitted, says he remains skeptical of the ABM but is "open to persuasion."

"I wouldn't have voted for the

Soft Spot For Podunk

SYLMAR, Calif. (AP) — The nostalgia felt by Hal Morris for his old town, Podunk Center, Iowa, is deepened by word that it's up for sale for $7,000.

"I guess fame can sure raise the value of a town," said Morris, recalling it started for $1,500 and sold it three years later for $1,800.

Morris, 64, was 29 when he quit his job with a Des Moines meat packing plant and bought an acre of land in 1934 without telling his wife. He built a general store, put in gas pumps and called it Podunk.

Why Podunk? "It was the best name I could think of at the time," Morris said Sunday. "Names like Toonerville and Feltonville just didn't fit it."

The business along U.S. 69 was great, he recalls. "One day a salesman drove up and said he would trade me two boxes, the contents of which I wouldn't know until after the trade, in return for $5 worth of groceries."

"I traded and, when I opened the boxes, I found them full of 1860 little boy dressup outfits—knickers and lace. My wife and I had a good laugh over it and hung up the outfits all over the store. You know, they sold like hotcakes."

Because of his wife's poor health, Morris said, he sold his town and moved to California.

The settlement now called Podunk Center is called "the hub of the world" by the present owner, Homer Weeks, but its greatest population—21—was in the '30s. Podunk now boasts a four-unit motel as well as the store-cafe.

"I still have three loves," says Morris, an employee of a Canoga Park, Calif., rocket manufacturer. "My wife, my relatives and Podunk. When I retire in July, one thing I'll do is visit Podunk."

But buy it back? No, says Hal Morris wistfully. It costs too much.

Shadowy 'Conspiracy'

The "conspiracy theory" of history has been dealt some hard blows lately.

This is the temptation to explain everything that happens in terms of a mysterious "they" plotting against "us." For instance, an international cabal of munitions manufacturers was responsible for World War I, or China was "lost" because the State Department was infested with Reds.

In New Orleans, a jury's speedy verdict of Not Guilty in the matter of Clay Shaw has blown the biggest hole yet in the leading conspiracy theory of our time. Not only was Shaw vindicated, but so was the Warren Commission's findings on the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

In Memphis, despite a cryptic remark by James Earl Ray that he did not agree with the FBI and the U.S. Justice Department that there was no conspiracy against the life of Martin Luther King, both prosecution and judge were convinced that Ray acted alone in the murder. For reasons best known to him, Ray seems to hope to keep the suspicion of conspiracy alive.

In Los Angeles, in the trial of Sirhan Sirhan for the assassination of Robert F. Kennedy, the evidence overwhelmingly points to this, too, being the work of one man. Here, of course, no conspiracy theory was ever seriously advanced; yet because of the other assassinations, the possibility had to be investigated and refuted.

The conspiracy theory of history is not dead by any means, and never will be. Even in a democracy, the mass of people have little direct control over the institutions of society and government, whether it is the county highway department or the U.S. State Department — and the less control, the more distrust.

When something happens that is not immediately explainable, it is easier to believe in a conspiracy than it is to believe that those in positions of responsibility, no matter if in high or low degree, do not always have control over events themselves. And just often enough, there are collusions between corporations, between politicians and pressure groups, between law enforcement officials and criminal elements to keep the general fear of conspiracy alive.

When a ghetto or college campus erupts, it is easier to believe in a conspiracy by a hard core of trouble-makers than it is to accept the fact that genuine injustices exist in which all of us are implicated.

Oddly enough, something like the conspiracy theory impels many of the young activists of today. To them, the "Establishment" is one big conspiracy, designed to keep the Negro in poverty, to machine wars, to enrich the ruling groups and to crush freedom and individualism.

Protests and demonstrations to arouse the conscience of the people about certain evils in society are one thing. But war against society itself is an exercise in futility.

For society is not a conspiracy. It is a collection of individuals possessing varying degrees of wisdom and stupidity, selfishness and altruism, with private interests and desires that sometimes interlock, sometimes conflict and almost always compete.

The evil in the world is not planned or conspired. It is the collective result of the individual greed, fear, prejudice and competition of faulty human beings.

This is the kind of "conspiracy" each of us, as individuals, can do something about.

D.C. College Needs Strong President

By DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON
WASHINGTON — The only thing that can save the Federal City College from being a tragic failure is to persuade former Sen. Wayne Morse, a founder of the college, to become its president.

Morse, who took seriously his job on the District of Columbia Committee when Sen. Lyndon Johnson demoted him to that unpopular committee, helped conceive the Federal City College as a means of educating young Negroes.

In the last decade, Washington has become nearly 60 per cent Negro, and much of its younger generation has lacked qualifications to enter the top universities in the capital. So the Federal City College was established on the pattern of community colleges of New York, California and other states.

So far, however, the college has been nothing short of a catastrophe. Its weak president, Frank Farner, a Morse recommendation from Oregon, lacked experience in handling either Negroes or big city problems. He surrendered authority to the faculty, which proceeded to adopt a self-perpetuation resolution that they could not be fired. The recommended curriculum includes stick fighting, karate and so much emphasis on black studies that 40 per cent of the college would be devoted to semi-segregationist courses.

Obviously this will not train young Negroes to play a leadership role in the nation's capital.

In addition, there are complaints that more faculty members than students play hooky from classes.

If the District of Columbia is to decrease its escalating crime rate, let alone attain home rule or approach self-government, it must increase the number of its educated Negro citizens. For this, a successful Federal City College is essential.

Sen. Morse, defeated by a slender margin last November, is co-author of the historic education bills passed by the Johnson administration. He is former dean of the University of Oregon Law School and one of the earliest crusaders of civil rights. His credentials as a champion of the Negro are unimpeachable. He would be one of the few who could rescue an important start toward Negro education which so far has been a dismal failure.

Evening in Korea

By CYRENE DEAR
WASHINGTON, D. C. — One does not need to be a world traveler to step on foreign soil. Each embassy is on native land, and an evening at the Korean Embassy was indeed an evening in Korea.

Ambassador and Madame Dong Jo Kim received members of the American Newspaper Association and their guests at the Embassy, located behind the Shoreham Hotel. The beautiful Madame Kim wore a native gown of blue satin that would have graced the halls of any Paris salon. Other hostesses were the wives of the Embassy staff, all of whom were in long evening dress. Their gowns were similar in style — a short waisted, fitted bodice with three-quarter length sleeves and a very full long skirt. The Ambassador's wife's gown was all blue, giving a long line effect. One dainty little hostess lady who spoke perfect English wore a gown with a black satin top and a white full skirt with delicate sprays of black flowers. The effect was perfect. Another hostess wore an azure blue print.

When one could take the eyes away from the lovely ladies and the smiling, pleasant men, the furnishings of the Embassy were equally impressive. The paintings of their native Korea were in gentle hues depicting the often foggy climate that suggests the aftermath of an eruptive volcano. Other paintings were typical of oriental art, in bright and soft colors blended together. Among the treasures were exquisite large dolls in hand-embroidered costumes protected under glass domes. Everywhere in the residence were chests and cabinets of all sizes in native mahogany and other woods decorated with brass ornamented knobs and fixtures. The couches were low with plenty of cushions, and the Cheppendale dining chairs were upholstered in native fabrics.

The substantial buffet was a mixture of American and Korean tidbits. The most intriguing was the miniature shishkabob alternating beef, fish, carrots and peppers. A tiny serving of well crusted chicken was especially delectable. Cheese-stuffed celery in colorful arrangement appeared appetizing, and was.

After a period of socializing, a film of South Korea was shown and afterwards the Ambassador obligingly answered questions. "Would there ever be a united Korea?" The Ambassador beamed and said, "Already a great many Koreans have left the Communist North and migrated into free South Korea, which indicates that the time will come, when we can again have a free country."

Bombing Halt Robs Ho Of War Sacrifice Excuses

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)

Information reaching this reporter from Hong Kong indicates that the bombing halt which he wanted so badly has turned out to be a mixed blessing for Ho Chi Minh.

Prior to the halt, Ho could blame his growing economic and political problems on the bombing. He could also use the air attacks as a spur and as an excuse for forcing people to endure greater sacrifices.

Now Ho has no such convenient crutch.

The people are finding that the bombing was not the only cause of North Vietnam's economic stagnation.

Increasing numbers of troops mobilized and sent south ward for the Vietnam war and held as backup for that war have caused important manpower shortages in agriculture and industry. For the most part these have been young men of prime laboring age.

The bombing halt, of course, is releasing tens of thousands who were needed for bridge and road repair. But the shortages remain. In part, the release of these men has been offset by a lessening of effort in recent months. With no war directly facing them at home, there has been a let-down.

So Ho has a morale problem.

Absenteeism is growing on the docks at Haiphong, North Vietnam's major port. Black markets are flourishing in goods pilfered by idle dock workers from the mountains of goods in the port areas. Officials complain that many men don't find it possible to put in full time at their jobs, they're so busy pilfering and black marketing.

There are reports of serious port management corruption and waste as well.

Ho's troubles are not limited to the ports. Black markets are reported growing in tea, sugar cane, cotton and rice.

Rice production has fallen more seriously than predicted, and shortages must be made up by more severe rationing and increased imports of rice from Communist China and wheat from Russia.

Coal output continues to decline.

There are slowdowns in forestry, construction, the light industries and fishing. Work lags at the collective farms because farmers are busy with their own private—and more profitable—plots.

None of this is to suggest Hanoi is now ready to end the war in South Vietnam or prepared to make major concessions at Paris. Ho and his men are dogmatists willing to make much greater sacrifices than this to achieve their ends.

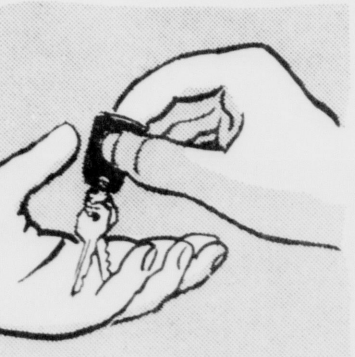

Effectiveness of the bombing was evidenced by Ho's extreme determination to get it stopped.

What these reports seem to say is now that the bombing is stopped, things are not as rosy for Ho's planners as they had expected.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Lending Your Car

It is common courtesy, when you lend your car to a friend, to fill it up first with gas. But what about checking the brakes or inspecting the tires? If the car is defective and there is an accident, are you legally liable for the consequences?

You may be indeed. Take this case:

A man allowed the woman next door—an inexperienced driver—to borrow his car. Although he knew it had a "grabby" clutch, he didn't tell her so. During the ride she lost control of the car, crashed into a tree, and suffered painful injuries.

She later sued him for damages, and the court decided he must pay for his negligence. The judge said that, under the circumstances, this was the kind of accident he could reasonably have foreseen and prevented.

What if there is an injury not to the borrower but to some third party whom you don't even know? Even then, you might incur liability.

Thus, a man who loaned a car with faulty brakes, without giving fair warning to the borrower, was held responsible for the resulting death of a schoolboy. The fatal accident occurred when, at a crucial moment, the brakes gave way.

That does not mean you have to make a thorough examination of your car before lending it, to discover defects you would not ordinarily know about. Accordingly, a car owner was held not to blame when the steering gear—seemingly all right until then—suddenly jammed while a friend was using the car.

Nor must you warn a borrower about things he can and should see for himself. A man who loaned a car with a dirty windshield was held not responsible for a later collision. The court said he had a right to assume that the borrower would have enough sense to clean the windshield on his own.

All the law demands is that you show, along with your generosity in lending the car, a decent concern for the safety of other people. As one court said:

"When a person lends, he ought to confer a benefit and not do a mischief."

The Hitch in a Pitch

It took some waiting, but I got it. My own cordial invitation to attend a "golden opportunity meeting" and a chance to sell cosmetics for what a representative says is "... the fastest growing company in the U. S. today."

The invitation was for a meeting in Wilmington, Del., and, after commenting on my "tongue-in-cheek article (where I) discussed 'get-rich-quick' schemes in a general way," he told me that his company is "presently operating in 40 states and Canada and is registered to do business in 17 foreign countries." He asks, "Does this sound like a 'scheme'?"

Well, we could spend lots of time getting involved with definitions of words. My dictionary, for example, devotes about two inches of fine print to that word alone.

Looking over some of the letters I have received since my tongue-in-cheek article about in-your-pocket business opportunities, I find some other interesting words.

A writer from Pennsylvania used the words "are really being taken." However, that is a slang phrase, isn't it? Let's go on to some others. There is "fleeced" and then there was "bilked." One I found most interesting was "retained ... as our attorney."

The letters that saddened me were the ones asking me to write more about the business and those asking me to tell them how they might get out of their contracts. I am sorry because I cannot possibly help them. All I can do is write to the ones who signed their names and suggest they talk with an attorney or their Better Business Bureau. And, I am certain that when they do, they will discover they have signed a legal contract.

Perhaps I should not condemn the company or its representatives. After all, what are they doing with their 14-minute film and their witnesses who stand up and declare they made $50,000 in the past six months? They are only allowing the persons attending the meeting to make willing victims of themselves.

As for the salesman's claims that his company is operating in 40 states and Canada and is registered to do business in 17 foreign countries, well, I never said that wanting to get rich overnight was a desire endemic only to the United States.

I am not attending a meeting because I am one who has no liking for what the salesman calls "fair showmanship and enthusiasm." Why I might even ask one of the witnesses to prove to me that he made $50,000 in six months.

Right now I'll take this opportunity to ask one of those persons to write to me. The funny thing is that I haven't heard from anybody who felt his original $2,500 investment was a wise one.

The same old rules apply whether you are considering investing in a cosmetics business, a furnace cleaning job or wall-to-wall carpeting: (1) call your Better Business Bureau; (2) ask somebody you know and respect for his opinion or, at least, get a name and address so you can check on the information; (3) don't let anybody stampede you. If you have to sign TODAY, you will probably be sorry tomorrow.

If you REALLY want to get rich overnight, why don't you find some way of getting people to hand YOU $2,500?

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Rheumatoid Arthritic Needs Team Approach

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q — What is osteoarthritis?
A — Osteoarthritis is a form of arthritis that is less crippling than rheumatoid arthritis. In some degree, it is present in everyone who is over 60. Advanced cases are characterized by painful swelling of the joints, especially the hips, knees, spine and fingers. It can't be prevented or cured but much can be done to relieve the symptoms and prevent serious handicaps.

Q — What are the symptoms of rheumatoid arthritis? Can anything be done to slow its progress?

A — This usually begins with soreness and stiffness in the joints and increased fatigability. The joints are not only swollen and painful to move but also hot and painful to touch. Much can be done to slow the progress of the disease but this is not a simple matter of giving a prescription. The treatment of this disease requires a team approach involving a specialist in rheumatic diseases, an orthopedist, a physical therapist and others.

Q — I have rheumatoid arthritis. My doctor says I have spurs on my spine and that I must grin and bear it without any medical help. What do you think?

A — Bone spurs of the spine cause no pain unless they press on a nerve. When this occurs, heat may give some relief but will not cure the condition. Most surgeons advise a fusion operation that will relieve the pressure and prevent any movement of the spine. The spine is fused in the best position for normal living and crippling deformity is thereby prevented.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q — I have several W-2 forms. Should I send them all in with my return or can I just add them up and give the totals?

A — All Forms W-2 received should accompany the tax return. Missing W-2 Forms were a major reason for delays in processing returns and refunds last year.

Q — My ex-husband gives me $175 a month for myself and two children. Is this taxable to me?

A — If the money is designated in your divorce or separation agreement as child support payments then it will not be taxable. However, alimony or separate maintenance payments are taxable and must be reported on your return.

Gloomy Statistics Open To Dispute, It's Shown

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — In Pittsburgh a few days ago an official of the American Transit Association gave a gathering of transportation men a glimpse of a potentially horrible future.

"By the linear foot," he told the transportation men, "American motor vehicles are being built faster than the roads to accommodate them. It averages out to 175 million feet of vehicles a year."

Meanwhile, he said, roads are being built at the rate of only 90 million feet a year, which means that the old-fashioned Sunday drive to nowhere in particular will actually end at nowhere, locked in traffic.

At nearly the same time a popular magazine was reporting on "The Garbage Apocalypse," or the threatened inundation of New York in its own refuse.

"The day is fast approaching," the article stated, "when there will be no more land we can reclaim with our refuse. The official word is that we have up to eight years. The unofficial word is four years."

Various publications simultaneously reported on the growing lack of space for human beings, or rather the exploding population of the world which threatens to leave mankind with elbow room only and not enough food.

And in Wall Street and its counterparts a recurring and ominous story circulated to the effect that in the 1970s there would be so much competition for securities that good sound common stocks would be hard to come by.

Life on the edge of the precipice, where these articles indicate man sits and dangles his feet and tempts fate, can be a dizzying, frightening experience if you dwell upon it. There's plenty to think about.

Wall Street is suffocating in a sea of paper, the oil companies need to find more oil, taxes are rising, the cities are dying. Meanwhile, we are told, the machines take advantage of man's weakened condition to seize power.

And there's the bomb. The dismal tales continue. The environment, for example, is said to be degenerating into the kind enjoyed most by the hippo. The lakes are becoming cesspools, the rivers just sludge. The air is toxic. The vibrating sound waves are jangling nerves and causing neuroses.

The picture, as portrayed, never looked more grim. Never before, if you see only one side of such stories, has mankind ever got itself into such a mess. But that's just one point of view.

The other: Never were there greater opportunities for constructive, enterprising minds. The worst of situations sometimes provides the best of opportunities. And so:

New companies are issuing stock at such a rate the stock shortage seems a long way off; oil companies are finding oil in Alaska and Australia; soft drink companies have invented protein rich drinks for the undernourished.

The pill manufacturers are, of course, reaping rewards by controlling the population. And the explosives companies are making devices to combat their explosives.

There is hope, it seems, and that hope swells when the report of the transit man is analyzed.

If, as suggested by Carmack Cochran, the transit man, more car than road footage is being laid down each year, then some day a car will leave a dealer's showroom and become the final piece in a nationwide jigsaw of automobiles.

Could this really be so. A check of the author's talk shows he admitted to some exaggeration. It is true, he said, that if all cars and trucks were placed bumper to bumper they would measure 175 million feet.

And it is true, he said, that over the past five years new roads have been built at an average of 17,000 miles or 90 million feet.

But, he conceded, most roads have at least two lanes and he measured only one.

It seems there really is more room than we think. And more reason to hope too?

Leaves Pope's Service

A happy Giovanni Musante, the former monsignor of the papal household in the Vatican, holds his arm around the woman he plans to marry, Giovanna Carlevaro. Musante left the priesthood recently to wed the 38-year-old widow.

Osmium, a very hard, bluish-white metal, with a violet luster, is the heaviest substance known.

Scientists have found that it is nepetalic acid in catnip which attracts cats, but they do not know why cats like it so much.

Doctors in Biafra Face The Agony of Choosing

UMUELAGWA, Biafra, (AP) — The children come here nude, sitting or lying in the back of a truck, a piece of adhesive with their name taped on their forehead.

They are bewildered and ill, some with eyes that are drained of blood, some with stomachs swollen round as bowling balls.

Thirty or 40 of these children are brought each week to this way station on the road to a rehabilitation center in Libreville, Gabon.

Although only some are aware of it, this is the best of times for the children—they are getting out. It is the worst of times for the doctor who went within five miles of the Nigerian-Biafran war front, last week and picked out those who will leave. He knows that many of the children he decided to leave behind will be dead the next time he comes through.

There are Red Cross and Biafran doctors who have made the selection for weeks. But the French Red Cross physician who took the last group was doing the job for the first time. He has not quite gotten over it. "It's not exactly being Dr. Mengele, the one who decided who would live and die at Auchswitz," said Dr. Jean Lharidon. "But there is room only for so many, and you look at them and you must think: Can this one survive a truck and plane trip? Is another in good enough condition to stay behind so that there will be a place for one who is slightly less well, but not dangerously fragile?"

"It is not like ordinary treatment when you do your best. It is a responsibility that was not really meant for a man."

When the 48-year-old doctor went to the village of Umuogumuzu he was afraid there would be wrenching scenes with the children and their mothers.

But there was no emotion, just 100 children standing in three rows, some with their heads drooping from weakness. One child needed an immediate transfusion. Another's heart hammered at 200 beats a minute and was near collapse. Both were taken along for hospitalization rather than evacuation. Others whose condition was more serious could not be transported.

Insects or other organisms transporting germs or other agents of disease are called vectors.

Refreshing Twist

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — When the time was apropos, university of Idaho President Ernest W. Hartung climbed up on the make-shift stage and told 3,000 students standing in the rain:

"I thank you for this demonstration. It's truly wonderful. The president's office gets complaints and sometimes it's a very lonesome place. But after tonight, I will never feel so lonesome."

Before Hartung spoke, the crowd cheered "We want Ernie" and "Ernie is our man."

The demonstration was staged by students, faculty and townspeople to show support for Hartung who has been hasseling with state legislators over school appropriations.

Trading Stamps In Negro Theme

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Formation of a Negro-owned Black and Brown Trading Stamp Corp. was announced Monday. It will feature a picture of singer James Brown on each stamp.

Art Powell, former professional football end, is president. He said the firm will begin stamp distribution April 1 and has signed about 40 merchants, both Negro and white, in the San Francisco area.

March 31 is Important Under a Medicare Plan

March 31, is an important date to many persons who are over 65 years old, according to C. Kent Charles, Social Security district manager. For some it will mean they will have to wait until Jan. 1, 1970 before they will have another opportunity to enroll in the supplemental medical insurance coverage under Medicare. For still another group it means they will not have another opportunity at all to enroll.

Under the present law, a person must enroll in the supplemental medical insurance program no later than three years after his initial enrollment period ends. For a person born on or before Oct. 1, 1901, his initial enrollment period ended Dec. 31, 1966. If this person wants to enroll and has not, he must do so no later than March 31.

There are some people who had enrolled in the Medicare program, but either let their coverage lapse or terminated it on or before Dec. 31, 1966. These people also must re-enroll before March 31, or they will not have another opportunity, Charles said.

Charles urged all interested persons over 65 who come within these two groups to enroll in the supplemental medical insurance program before March 31. The supplementary medical insurance coverage will start July 1, 1969.

The supplemental insurance program is not a "new" program, Charles said, but a provision of existing Medicare.

Cardinals Trade Cepeda For Braves' Joe Torre

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Atlanta Braves dickered with the New York Mets for four months trying to trade Joe Torre away. When they turned their attention to the St. Louis Cardinals, it only took four hours to make the deal.

The Braves swapped Torre, a catcher-first baseman, to St. Louis Monday night in exchange for Orlando Cepeda, the first baseman who was the unanimous choice as the Most Valuable Player in the National League two seasons ago.

Paul Richards, executive vice president of the Braves, has carried on a running verbal feud with Torre, a holdout and one of the leaders of the recent player pension boycott. But he wasn't prepared to unload Torre without getting value for him and that was what turned him away from the Mets and to the Cardinals.

He said the trade for Cepeda was consummated after three or four hours of haggling. Other names were mentioned. Richards said, but it boiled down to a one-for-one swap.

Bing Devine, general manager of the Cardinals, said the trade would allow the National League champions to give rookie Joe Hagge more of a chance at first base than he would have had with Cepeda on the club.

"The deal is part of our belief that we just can't sit and ride along with a winner but must look for changes that make sense," Devine said.

Cepeda, acquired from San Francisco in 1966 in exchange for pitcher Ray Sadecki, batted .325 with 25 homers and 111 RBI to lead the Cardinals to the 1967 pennant and win MVP honors unanimously. But his production fell off to .248, 16 homers and 73 RBI in 1968 as the Cardinals repeated. He is 31 years old.

Torre, 28, has been a Brave regular since 1961 and has a career batting average of .294. He hit .271 in 115 games for Atlanta last year. Troubled by injuries, his home run production slipped from 36 in 1966 to 20 in 1967 and 10 last year.

"I'm just coming out of the fog," Torre commented. "But I'm very happy. You certainly can't have any complaints when you get traded to a club like the Cardinals. I think I'll be able to make some money with them."

UCLA and Lew Alcindor Seek Third NCAA Title

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Towering Lew Alcindor leads UCLA in quest of its third straight national basketball title this week, and about the only things this year's team has in common with the past two are the big man and a great record.

Heading for Louisville and the NCAA final tournament, Coach John Wooden calls his 1969 combo "quite different."

The three areas that are different are: stronger forwards, weaker guards and improved play by 7-foot-1½ Alcindor, three times All-American and twice Player of the Year.

"We're changed because of the different style of our guards," Wooden says. "The guards we have now have done as well as we could expect. But it's not often you have a Mike Warren and a Lucius Allen."

Warren, the ball handler, and Allen, the playmaker, are gone but UCLA has used three men effectively to take their place.

Seniors Bill Sweek and Ken Heitz and junior college transfer John Vallely have all played about equally.

Alcindor is playing the best basketball of his career right now, Wooden says.

"He's much stronger now and it's easier for him to do the things he has to do. His ma-neuverability for a big man has always amazed me and now he's even more mobile. And he's not a selfish individual. He is dedicated to the total effort of the team."

Says Alcindor: "When you're stronger, you don't have to work as hard and I'm more relaxed on the court now. Also, that jump shot from the side has helped my game. If I'm hitting that shot, I can move in and out and open things up for the rest of the team."

Rebounding hasn't been much of a task for Lew this year as in the two seasons previous because he's gotten help from two talented sophomore forwards.

In 1968, Lew wound up with an average of 16.8 rebounds per game — 31.4 per cent of all UCLA grabbed. This season, Alcindor had a game average of only 14.4 and 28.8 per cent.

Curtis Rowe, at 6-6½, and Sid Wicks, 6-8, leap like high jumpers and have averaged 7.7 and 5.6 rebounds per game respectively.

John Wooden's teams of past championship years have been relatively small but played together as a well-knit team a la the Walt Hazzard-Gail Goodrich era.

"I think this season we've had a pretty good spirit of cooperation and teamwork throughout even though I've juggled players quite a bit," Wooden says. "I finally came down to the determining factor that I wanted eight that I could rely on. And that makes it tough on players because they all want to star."

Even with all this wealth of material, Wooden expected it to be a difficult coaching year, explaining:

"I knew it was going to be one of the most pressure-packed year's we've had."

"Not knowing how the younger players would react to that pressure was on my mind and I was wondering if the older players would still be hungry."

"I felt the winning streak probably would be broken. I didn't know just where or when, but to be honest with you, I don't think it would be broken at our Pauley Pavilion."

"I was surprised we went undefeated as long as we did."

After finishing the 1967-68 season with 16 straight victories, the Bruins won 25 in a row this campaign before bowing to Southern California's ball control 46-44 in the regular season finale.

Then the Bruins swept through New Mexico State and Santa Clara in the NCAA Western regionals.

Golf Title to Kathy

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Kathy Whitworth became the first player to win three Orange Blossom golf titles Monday as she collected $2,220, her share of the $15,000 Orange Blossom Open.

Miss Whitworth shot rounds of 74-70-72—216 to defeat Marlene Hagge by one stroke.

Relief pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm, now with the California Angels, will be 46 years old next July. He hurled 94 innings with the Chicago White Sox in 1968.

KC Royals Passed Up 'The Mick'

NEW YORK — Retired Yankee star Mickey Mantle was exposed in the expansion draft last October, but was passed over by Seattle and Kansas City, reveals an article in the current issue of SPORT Magazine.

According to the article by baseball writer Dick Young, Mantle was exposed through the first two rounds of the expansion draft and then withdrawn and protected by the Yankees.

In a gentleman's agreement arrived at between the Yanks and Marvin Milkes of Seattle and Cedric Tallis of Kansas City, the two clubs agreed not to draft the Yankee superstar who had given every indication that he would retire rather than don a new uniform.

Milkes said publicly, "I want Mickey Mantle to come into Seattle twice with the Yankees next year and fill my ballpark."

The Yanks were sure that Seattle wouldn't draft Mantle, but they feared that Kansas City might become discouraged with the quality of the players available in the early going and go back on its word.

Subsequently, the Yankees withdrew Mantle's name prior to the third round, concludes the SPORT Magazine article.

Moberly Seeking Another

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—The five-day, 26-game grind to determine the National Junior College basketball champion opened here at noon today with 16 teams vying for the title.

A slight favorite was San Jacinto Junior College of Pasadena, Tex., the defending champion which brought a 42-1 record into the tourney. San Jacinto opens defense of its title at 7:45 p.m. today, meeting Johnson and Wales Junior College of Providence, R.I.

Moberly, Mo., Junior College —making its 16th tournament appearance in quest of its fifth national title—took on Paducah, Ky., Junior College at noon in the tourney opener.

Other afternoon games pitted Miles City, Mont., against Hutchinson, and Howard County of Big Spring, Tex., against Murray State of Tishomingo, Okla.

Besides the San Jacinto-Providence game, tonight's slate has Northwest Community College of Powell, Wyo., playing Burlington, Iowa, at 6 p.m., and Robert Morris of Carthage, Ill., meeting Phoenix, Ariz., at 9:30 p.m. The first round is to be completed Wednesday afternoon when Gardner-Webb of Boiling Springs, N.C., meets Robert Morris of Pittsburgh, Pa., at 1 p.m. and Brevard of Cocoa, Fla., clashes with Vincennes, Ind., at 2:45 p.m.

The double-elimination meet winds up Saturday night.

Bill Austin, George Dickson, Harland Sware, Lew Carpenter, Dan Doll, Mike McCormick and Sam Huff will be new assistant coaches under Vince Lombardi with the Washington Redskins next season.

Cepeda Traded for Torre

The Atlanta Braves traded Joe Torre to the St. Louis Cardinals for Orlando Cepeda. Torre, still unsigned, was reportedly seeking $65,000 from the Braves, and an apology from General Manager Paul Richards who had said that Torre had not done much for the team in the past two years. The transaction took place Monday in West Palm Beach. (UPI Photos)

Colorado's Meely Named Big Eight Player of Season

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Cliff Meely, who burst onto the Big Eight basketball scene this season with less advance fanfare but just as effective results as Wilt Chamberlain 12 years ago, today was named the conference's player of the year by The Associated Press.

Just as Chamberlain led the Big Eight in scoring and paced Kansas to the league championship in his sophomore season of 1957, so Meely was conference scoring king and led Colorado to this year's title.

The 6-foot-8 Buffalo prize, whose varied basketball talents leave coaches marvelling, scored 348 points in 14 Big Eight games for a 24.9 average. Chamberlain scored 305 in 12 games, a 25.4 average.

Meely easily outdistanced Kansas Jo Jo White, the runner-up for player of the year honor. He also had a whopping margin over Dave Robisch of Kansas as the league's outstanding sophomore.

In 28 games, the Chicago native, who played his freshman basketball at Northeastern Junior College, Sterling, Colo., before transferring to the University of Colorado, scored 667 points for a 23.8 average and grabbed 337 rebounds for a 12.0 average.

He sank 45.9 per cent of his field goal attempts and 60.1 per cent of his free throws. He fouled out only once in 28 games.

As impressive as these statistics are, Colorado Coach Sox Walseth says Meely's value goes beyond the points and the rebounds.

Many Get Free Exams At Armory

Approximately 600 boys of Little League age attended the free physical examination period last Saturday at the National Guard Armory.

Little Leaguers are reminded that April 1 is the final date for examination cards to be turned in to league officials.

Dennis Onwiler, player agent for the baseball program, said that over 700 boys are expected to participate in the Sedalia Little League organization alone.

Due to the added number of anticipated players, two new baseball diamonds had to be constructed in Hubbard Park, and six new teams, representing 78 boys were added to the majors.

'Call Wilt'

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — (NEA)—Florida State basketball coach Hugh Durham is upset about his team's poor foul-shooting performances in recent games.

"It's so bad," he says, "I think I'm going to call in an expert—Wilt Chamberlain."

"The nicest thing about Cliff," Walseth said, "is he's just such a nice kid. He makes coaching a genuine pleasure. He sets such a good example."

"He's earned this honor; he's very deserving of it. He's very coachable. He's humble and not cocky at all. He's helped us more, probably, on the backboards than anything since we lost Ron Smith. Plus the fact he's scored so well for us."

"He's just such a likeable, hard-working kid."

If Walseth sounds a bit gushy in his praise of Meely, he has a right.

Without Meely's scoring and rebounding it is safe to assume Colorado would have found it extremely difficult even to be a contender in the Big Eight cage race in 1969.

In the Buifs' crucial stretch games en route to the crown, Meely scored 27 points and got 15 rebounds in a 75-67 victory over co-runnerup Kansas at Boulder, Colo., March 1 and he bagged 40 points in an 80-76 overtime triumph at Iowa State Feb. 22. He grabbed 21 rebounds in the title-clinching 92-73 win over Missouri March 3.

With Colorado returning Meely and its other four regulars, and Smith expected to regain his eligibility, it would appear some encores are in store for the Buffaloes next season.

Spring Spawning Runs Induce Better Fishing

COLUMBIA — That special time of year is here for walleye and white bass fishermen, according to Missouri Department of Conservation biologists.

The spring spawning runs are getting under way and fishing should be nothing but good for a month or five weeks in certain locations.

Willis Hanson, impoundment investigations supervisor, and George Fleener, stream investigation creel census biologist, listed a number of places where, if local conditions are right the fishing should be the best.

For walleye Hanson and Fleener say the upper Osage is probably the best in the state if conditions permit. Another good location is the Osage River at the upper end of the Lake of the Ozarks and below Bagnell Dam.

Other areas include the Pomme de Terre River just below the dam that forms

Clearwater Lake, the lower reaches of the South Grand River, the upper part of Norfolk Lake in the Tecumseh area, and the St. Francis River at the upper end of Lake Wappapello and just below the dam that forms the lake.

The best white bass fishing areas should be: The Niangua Arm of the Lake of the Ozarks in the HaHaTonka area and the Glaize Arm in the Brumley area, Lake Norfolk in the Tecumseh area, and Bull Shoals Lake below the Powersite Dam.

Hanson said, "If the water is high or muddy, the fishing isn't going to be what it is when conditions are right. Temperature also has some effect and can slow the spawning runs down. But the fish react to the length of daylight hours more than temperature and we have heard of some good fishing already this year, in spite of cold weather."

Kent and Medic Featured In Main Wrestling Event

Unbeaten Don Kent, a stylish 235-pounder from Pontiac, Mich., will try to keep his Sedalia wrestling string alive tonight when he goes in main event action at Convention Hall.

The fast-stepping, hard-hitting heavyweight will match power strategy with the Medic, a hefty, aggressive, masked grappler who so far has managed to keep his identity a secret. Kent will follow a number of others who have tried to unmask the rugged warrior.

They'll meet in a best of three-falls event with a 60-minute limit.

Another three fall match, but with a 45-minute limit, will be a semifinal involving two masked men against the talented Martin brothers from Minot, N.D.

Their opponents will be the

Grems Host Track Meet On Tuesday

Tuesday, starting at 12:30 p.m., the Sacred Heart Gremlins held a qualifying meet for the Class "S" State Indoor track event.

Entered in the meet, in addition to Sacred Heart, are: Otterville, Prairie Home, Cole Camp, Calhoun, Leeton, Chilhowee, and Climax Springs.

Liberty Park will be the site for the qualifying event.

The first and second place winners in each event, advance to the state meet unless more than two qualify by the state athletic standards.

If a participant in any event meets a certain time, height, or distance, determined by the state athletic governing committee, he automatically qualifies for the state indoor meet in Columbia, March 28.

Remodeled Versailles Golf Club

VERSAILLES — The Rolling Hills Country Club at Versailles has both a new face and a new golf professional.

Last fall the old sand greens were changed to grass, the club house was remodeled, and a snack bar was added.

Art Schleuter, the new club pro, came to Rolling Hills from the Chapel Woods Golf Club, located north of Lee's Summit.

Schleuter feels that since the change has been made from sand to grass greens and the new additions have been made, Rolling Hills is now one of the finest nine hole courses in Missouri.

Art is well known in this area. He served as club professional at both the Meadowbrook Country Club and the Oakwood Country Club in Kansas City, as well as the club pro at Chapel Woods.

Tommy Armour, one of America's greatest golfing pros, induced schleuter to go to Kansas City.

Temporary greens are being used at the present time for play, while the new grass is expected to be ready in May.

Rolling Hills, adjacent to Highway 5 north of Versailles, will be open seven days a week, daylight to dark when the project is completed.

S-C Hosts Meeting

The Missouri State High School Activities Association will hold an interpretation meeting for high school baseball officials and coaches tonight starting at 7:30 p.m. at Smith-Cotton High School.

The meetings are being held for the first time as a part of the MSHSAA training officials. Discussion of the 1969 baseball rules changes and officiating mechanics will be on the agenda.

The rules interpreter for the S-C meeting tonight will be Jim Vieth, administrative assistant for the MSHSAA.

Justus Leads Vols From Charity Line

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Justus isn't one to look a gift horse in the mouth, and maybe that's why he eats a little better than the rest of the Tennessee basketball team.

At 6-foot-1 and 175 pounds Justus doesn't look like he has an enormous appetite. But when Coach Ray Mears started offering free steaks for free throws, Justus took him up on it, and now he has knife and forked the Vols into the semifinals of the National Invitation Tournament.

In pre-season practice the coach buys you a steak dinner if you hit 30 free throws in a row twice in one week.

Explained Justus after the Vols gobbled up Ohio U. 75-64 Monday night in the quarter-finals.

"I think he still owes me one from last fall."

The crowd at Madison Square Garden, which first saw John Baum lead Temple past scrappy St. Peter's 94-78, must be thinking Mears owes Justus another sirloin, about 25 ounces, after his record-breaking free throw performance.

Justus, who led the Southeastern Conference at the charity line with 90.7 per cent accuracy and was second in the country, dropped his first 18 free throws against Ohio, an NIT record, and finished with two more marks for most attempted and most made, 22-of-23.

He had half of his 34 points and seven of his game high 12 rebounds in the first half when the methodical, ball-control Vols built a 40-28 lead.

Then, when the Bobcats closed within 55-50, Tennessee hit six straight free throws, four by Justus, and that wrapped up Tennessee's 20th triumph against six losses.

"We work on foul shooting quite a bit—at least 25 minutes a day," Mears said after his club hit 37-of-42 against Ohio.

"We tried to draw fouls in the second half because we weren't shooting that well from the field." The Vols met Temple in the semis Thursday night with the winners of tonight's games—Army against South Carolina and Louisville against Boston College—pairing off in the other semi. The final is Saturday afternoon.

POLLY'S POINTERS Dress Up Tissue Box With Jingles, Jokes

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—As you finish cleansing your face with cream, reuse the tissues for wiping off your leather shoes. Just enough cream adheres to the tissue to impart a nice shine.

Choose a box of facial tissues when you are searching for some small but different gift to take to a hospitalized friend. Write cheerful sayings, funny jingles and brief jokes all over the box. As your friend reaches for each tissue she will read them. A sure "cheer you upper."—RUDY

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I have a large, heavy antique glass bottle that someone has painted on the inside. The paint is old and starting to flake off. I wish someone would tell me what to use to remove the paint from the inside of this old bottle.—MARY

DEAR POLLY—Needles finally punched holes in the end of my beautiful perfect-fitting silver thimble. Two jewelers said it could not be fixed but I could not bear to part with that pretty thimble. I put two drops of quick-drying glue into the thimble, then just the head of a thumb tack (convex side down), pushed in until it was solid and let it dry for two days. It has been as good as new for years.—MRS. G. P.

DEAR POLLY—After reading Ramona's Pointer about pressure cans I think mine is a better way to depressurize them and avoid any danger to anyone after they are discarded and perhaps thrown on a fire. I lay a folded newspaper on top of the can which is laid on its side, then I jab an ice pick through the paper into the can. The paper keeps any fluid from getting into the eyes and the can is ready for the trash can.—MRS. V. M. A.

DEAR POLLY—Save the tops off two hair spray cans, pad the centers with cotton and mark "Left" on one and "Right" on the other with a felt marking pen. You will have a safe place to keep your contact lenses. — MRS. J. A. G.

Jim Colbert Leads Into Final Round

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Britain and the United States should get together on the size of a golf ball, says South Africa's Gary Player.

"Golf is the only sport where you have a different sized ball," he said. "In football, baseball, basketball and all the other sports, the size of the ball is the same."

The 1961 Masters champion said it takes him while to get used to the size of America's larger golf ball.

But Player's period of adjustment has been brief, considering his performance in his first U.S. start this year, the $100,000

Monsanto Open.

Player opened the ruin-besieged Pensacola tournament with a 70 and came back with a 68 and a 65 on Saturday for a 54-hole total of 204. He is four shots back of leader Jim Colbert going into the twice-postponed final round scheduled for today.

Provisions were made for a split of 75 per cent of purse among the 17 contestants in the event the tournament could not be completed.

"I can't remember playing as well as I've played here in this tournament," said Player, who is looking for his first American victory since the 1965 U.S. Open.

SHAVING STROKES

by Frank Beard

5-The Confidence Game

We have spoken loosely of the word, "confidence," here but don't take it that way. It's a priceless commodity.

When it comes to golf, you can't practice confidence. You can't say, "I'm going to make myself believe I can hit this 4-wood across the lake." You can't buy confidence in a pro shop.

Not only will this pretense not work, it might set up some type of mental block about your game. Confidence, you see, is not a conscious thing. You don't walk down the fairway thinking, "Boy, I'm confident." I mean it's like one of your five fingers. It's there, you don't have to think it.

This is my opinion. I haven't talked to Freud or anybody about it. There is a way to develop confidence but it has to be almost subconscious.

The key to confidence, I believe, is the presence of positive results. Here's a good illustration.

Two years ago at Greensboro, N.C., I ran into Gary Player on the practice green and he was putting. I swear, one-foot putts. Now that's not a long putt. He must have had 50 shag balls out and, of course, he was making every one of them.

So I asked him, "Gary, what in the world are you doing?" Player is a serious man, so I knew there was a method to his madness.

"People say my stroke is excellent," he said, "but I don't seem to be making any putts. The only thing I can think of is that my confidence is off, that I've become a bit unsteady in my ability to believe they're going in the hole. So what I'm doing is working on my confidence."

What he was doing was watching the ball go into the hole. His subconscious, meanwhile, was registering success, getting confidence.

Rozelle Talks of Identity

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Professional football's most momentous problem, to become one league of 26 teams or retain the identity of the National and American leagues, remained the No. 1 item on the agenda of the joint meeting today.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle cleared up one elemental point Monday.

By 1970, it will be officially and legally the National Football League for all 26 clubs.

"But," said Rozelle, "that's a matter of semantics. Operationally, the National Football League will be two leagues."

"By 1970, we will have had 10 years of highly publicized rivalry between the two leagues. It would be very difficult to come up with a single National League. A majority of the news media is against this."

A survey of season ticket buyers in Houston and San Diego, AFL cities, said Rozelle, showed that 95 per cent preferred to keep intact the image of the American League.

The survey also showed, said the commissioner, that much damage in the public image would be to the Super Bowl game, the high point of each league's season, as well as the All-Star games of each league.

Rozelle declined to speculate on how the committees representing their respective leagues would recommend a solution to the problem of two issues:

Total realignment of the present 26 teams, and addition of two more expansion teams by 1970, all under the single banner of the NFL.

Rozelle said the answer might come in more preseason games and more regular season games between teams of the two leagues. In both areas, he said, "the over-all aura of the two leagues" would be preserved.

According to Rozelle, the vote for the committee's recommendations to keep intact the identities of two leagues must have approval of 13 of the 16 NFL clubs and eight of the 10 AFL owners.

KC Royals Are Young

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Joe Gordon has been hired, fired, rehired and traded as a manager but this is his first experience as boss of a brand new expansion club. The former star second baseman is enthused about his new job as boss of the Kansas City Royals.

"The owner (Ewing Kauffman) has done a great job promoting the club. They have sold over 7,500 season tickets. It may be up to 8,000 by now. He told people it is in his will that the club never will be sold to outside interests."

During Kansas City's previous tenure in the American League the club always was owned by outsiders. First it was the late Arnold Johnson who moved the team west from Philadelphia.

Then it was Charlie Finley who stirred up a storm by moving to Oakland.

Kansas City was guaranteed an expansion franchise which was formally awarded to Kauffman, a leading businessman in the city. After one year without baseball, Kansas City is back in the majors again.

"I think this is going to be a pretty good club," said Gordon, whose last managing job was at Kansas City where he was fired by Finley in June of the 1961 season.

"We are young and inexperienced," said Gordon, "and we can only improve. There is a lot of talent here."

"Our philosophy has been to go young at the start. We drafted the best young players we could get. I also had some reports on players in the Pacific Coast League and other leagues."

"The only old player we picked was Hoyt Wilhelm. The Angels wanted him badly so we traded him for two young fellows—Dennis Paepke and Ed Kirkpatrick."

Gordon has been impressed by the way Pat Kelly, Steve Whitaker, Bob Oliver and Mike Fiore handle a bat. He likes the speed of Jack Hernandez, Kelly and Fiore. He has been impressed by the versatility of Kirkpatrick, who plays outfield, third, first or catches.

For first base, the Royals have Chuck Harrison, purchased from the Atlanta Braves after hitting 25 homers at Richmond, and Fiore, who hit 19 homers and batted .271 for Baltimore's Rochester arm.

Paul Schaal, coming back after a serious beaming with the California Angels last year, and Jerry Adair, drafted from Boston, are the second basemen. Shortstop belongs to Hernandez who failed to hit at Minnesota last year. Joe Foy, regular third baseman on Boston's 1967 pennant club, probably will be at third.

Al Oliver, a .297 slugger with 20 homers and 93 RBI for Minnesota's Denver farm, can play the outfield or third base. Kelly, a .306 hitter at Denver, probably will be in center with George Spriggs, ex Pittsburgh Pirate, also available. Whitaker and the New York Yankee chain and Joe Keough, a good-looking rookie with the A's last summer, are in the outfield battle.

Paepke is battling with Jim Campanis, ex Los Angeles Dodger, and Eliso Rodriguez, former Yankee, for the top catching spot. Hawk Taylor and Buddy Brooker, both ex New York Mets also are available.

The pitching rotation probably will find Roger Nelson, the No. 1 draft from Baltimore, Wally

Green Ridge Tourney Opens

GREEN RIDGE — The first round of the Green Ridge Invitational Basketball Tournament was held Monday night in the Green Ridge gym.

Pilot Grove posted a 139 to 103 victory over LaMonte, while the Sedalia Possum Trotters dumped the Windsor Jaycees, 114-47.

Leading the way for Pilot Grove's win was Casey with 49 points. Eastep netted 38 in LaMonte's losing effort.

Enos Johnson paved the way for the Possum Trotters with 33, while Windsor's Williams pumped through 12.

The final two games of the opening round will be held tonight. Green Ridge tips off against Windsor Skelly at 7 p.m. The late contest features Houstonia against Boonville.

All-Stars Named

CHICAGO (AP) — Record-breaking center Phil Esposito and defenseman Bobby Orr and Ted Green of the Boston Bruins today were named to Pro Sports Weekly's first annual National Hockey League All-Star team.

Rounding out its first team, the national sports publication had Bobby Hull of Chicago at left wing, Gordie Howe of Detroit at right wing and Glenn Hall of St. Louis at goal.

Esposito recently became the first player in the league's history to score more than 100 points. Hull needs but two more goals to break his own record of 54 set in the 1965-66 season.

Named to the second team were right wing Yvan Cournoyer and defenseman Ted Harris of Montreal; forwards Frank Mahovich of Detroit and Red Berenson of St. Louis, defenseman Tim Horton of Toronto and goalie Ed Giacomin of New York.

Ann Landers

Suicide Victims Are Not Rational

Dear Ann Landers: Recently I read that suicide is the Number Six cause of death in the U.S. Why is this so? Can you explain why so many people would want to destroy themselves? And what about the close relatives of suicide victims? How can they go on living normal lives feeling that perhaps they could have prevented the suicide? — FAITHFUL READER

Dear Reader: The instinct for self preservation is the most compelling drive of all normal animals, including the human animal. The desire not to live is contrary to human nature. Most people who kill themselves do so during a period of deep depression. These people are not rational. Suicide victims whose mental processes have been derailed by alcohol or drugs likewise cannot be considered rational.

The guilt as well as the grief of the suicide's close relatives can be an enormous burden. All authorities with whom I have consulted agree that a suicidal pattern is developed early in life. Sometimes therapy can dissipate this drive. Generally speaking, the individual who is bent on self-destruction will find a way to end his life and no friend or relative can prevent it.

Dear Ann Landers: Every time I pick up a magazine I read an advertisement that says, "Increase your bustline in two weeks" or "How to add from two to four inches of feminine charm." I could cry.

Why don't they advertise something that will decrease the measurements of the girl who has too much up there? I am 18 years old and have a 44 bust. Can you imagine what I'll look like in ten years if I continue to grow?

I tried exercise and it didn't help. Please don't suggest an operation. The thought of a knife scares me. Is there anything else I can do? — BOWLING GREEN, KY.

Dear B.G.: A 44 bust isn't necessarily a handicap if it's on the proper frame. In fact, a girl on Wall Street drew quite a crowd with hers.

You don't say how tall you are or how much you weigh. If you are overweight, a diet would of course reduce your bustline along with the rest of you. Try it.

Dear Ann Landers: My mother-in-law is an attractive divorcee and could pass for 30, although she is ten years older.

Please don't tell me to M.Y.O.B. because my 16-year-old brother-in-law is involved and I am very fond of him. My mother-in-law calls the boy from another room to hand her a towel when she is in the shower. She walks around the apartment in a bra and panties. She sleeps nude. I think you get the idea. The lad is uncomfortable about his mother's behavior and has mentioned it to my husband, who doesn't want to "get involved." What should be done? — J.P.H.

Dear J.: The lad mentioned it to the wrong person. He should tell his mother how he feels about her immodesty. Sample sentence in case he can't find the words: "Ma, I'm not two years old. Please put on some clothes." Unconscious seduction by parents can create serious problems, particularly for teen-agers.

What is French kissing? Is it wrong? Who should set the from the telegraph to the microwave . . .

Today Union Pacific has a private microwave network for radio and television communications that stretches over nearly ten thousand miles. Sending and receiving information instantly is a vital link to shippers for their total transportation and distribution requirements.

Union Pacific's second hundred years leaves the old ideas of railroading to history. Tomorrow's advanced transportation technology, service and facilities are available today at UP. Call a Union Pacific freight salesman for the best solution to your transportation problems.

And for confidential plant site information in the Union Pacific West, write Ed H. Bailey, President, Union Pacific Railroad, Omaha, Nebraska 68102.

DOUBL-LIFE MUFFLER GUARANTEE

For as long as you own the car on which your Riverside Doubl-Life muffler was originally installed, and provided it remains on that car, if the muffler fails for any reason return it to any Wards branch and we will replace it free.
If Wards originally installed the muffler, we will install the replacement free. This guarantee does not apply to mufflers installed on commercial vehicles or to mufflers damaged in an auto accident.
